Progress in Infrastructure and Construction

During the quarter, the company delivered the South Bridge at the intersection of Primera de Mayo Avenue and 68th Avenue in Bogotá, a 466-meter, three-lane structure developed for Metro Line 1.

Likewise, the completion certificate was signed for the construction phase of the El Vínculo Portal Yard in Soacha, a project developed for the Regional Railway Company (EFR).

In Bogotá, the entire Guaymaral Avenue also became operational; this project, developed for the Lagos de Torca Trust, included the delivery of 1.4 kilometers of roadways, public spaces, and green areas.

These infrastructure advances were accompanied by new private contracts totaling $130,584 million, strengthening Concreto's presence in the logistics and industrial sectors.

Notable among the awarded projects are the urban development of the Lógica Vía 40 industrial park in Barranquilla and the construction of a logistics storage and distribution center for Tronex in Medellín.

Progress in the Housing Business

During the quarter, Calia was launched—a VIS project located in Bogotá that includes approximately 1,780 units across two phases and estimated sales of $584,797 million.

Additionally, construction began on Treebal in Medellín, a high-end residential project comprising 39 units with projected sales of $92,266 million.

These developments enabled Concreto to increase its market share in Colombia's housing segment, rising from 1.17% in the first quarter of 2025 to 1.26% in the same period of 2026.

The company continues to strengthen a business vision focused on strategic projects, diversification, and long-term sustainability.

*"The results achieved this quarter reflect the discipline, rigor, and strategic vision with which we continue to advance in each of our business areas, focused on building an increasingly solid, profitable, and sustainable company for our shareholders," said Nicolás Jaramillo, president of Concreto.
